

Glendale Police Department

The History of the Police Organization

Some History of the City of Glendale

- Prior to formally incorporating as a City, Glendale was known as the “Village of Glendale” dating as far back as 1912.
- On August 17, 1916 an Ordinance was passed making Glendale a 4th Class City within St. Louis County, Missouri.
- The First Mayor (Earl C. Perry) was elected on September 9, 1916.
- At that time, Glendale mainly consisted of single-family homes and was known as a “Cozy Country Retreat” away from the St. Louis Metropolitan area.
- The City of Glendale consists of 1.3 Square Miles (or 832 acres).
- The City of Glendale appointed a City Marshall and formed a Police Department.
- In 1926 the City of Glendale purchased its first Fire Truck and officially installed a Fire Department.

The History of the Glendale Police Department

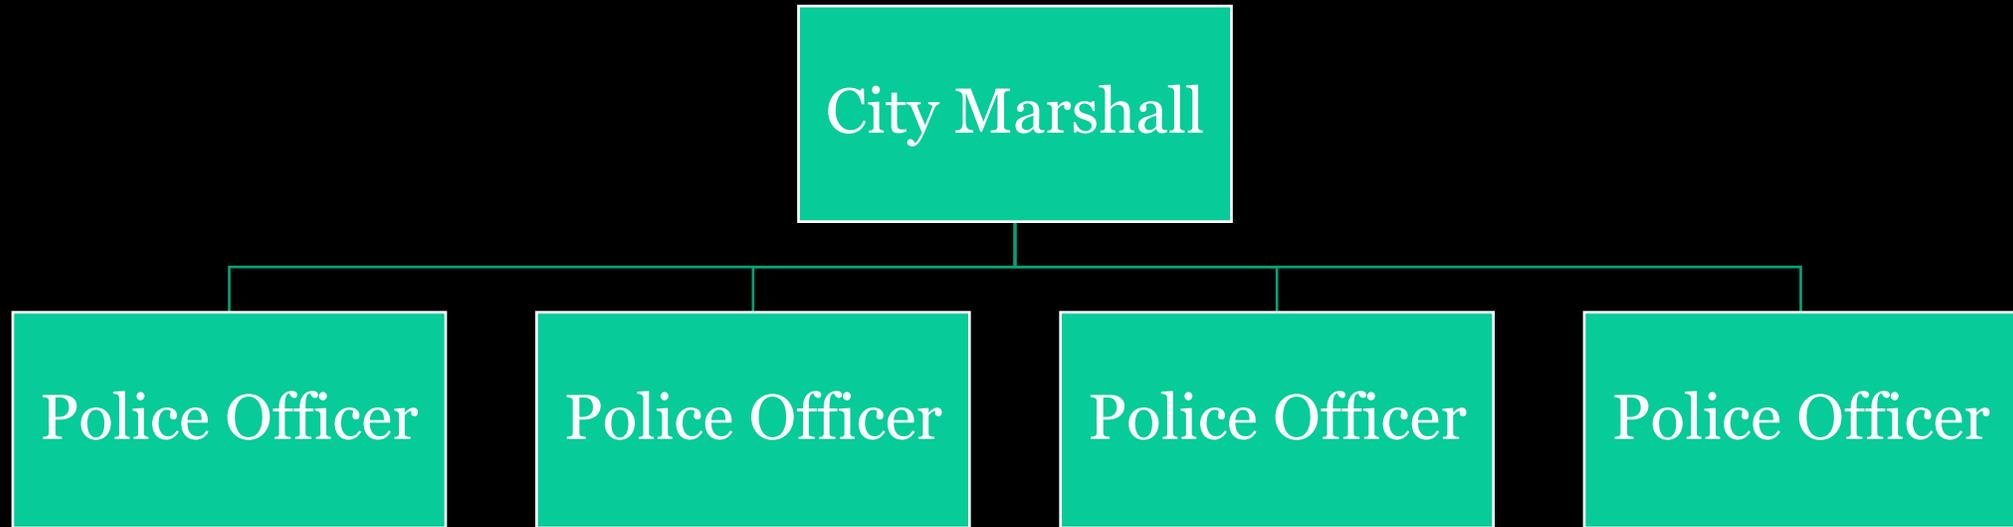

- In the beginning, the Glendale Police Department was led by a “City Marshall” and only had a few police officers.
- The Police Department purchased uniforms and a couple of police vehicles to patrol our city streets.
- They did not have police radios or dispatching capabilities at that time.
- The Police Department, Fire Department and City Hall all operated out of one single building, which is still standing today, and is now our City Hall Lobby.
